MOVIN' ON UP LOG'97

Volume 72

Dedications

Always a smile. That is what the class of 1997 has grown to expect - and depend on - from Mr. Garipay, our assistant principal, who has stood by us the longest. And that smile - coupled with his friendly face - has marked the last seven years for us. When we entered the Middle School he was just another principal. By the time we had completed the eighth grade we could see and appreciate both his firm discipline and subtle caring. So it was fitting, and especially comforting, that he should lead us across The Bridge: A new challenge for our class and a new challenge for him.

Indeed Mr. Garipay's move to the High School our freshman year brought he and this class closer together. When he recognized us in the halls with that supportive smile, or winked his eye, or flashed us his "thumbs up", those huge halls did not seem so empty or intimidating. And we were right to feel that way because we did have a friend in Mr. Garipay, someone always on our side. He could understand what we were experiencing as no one else could.

Over the past four years, the relationship between Mr. Garipay and the Class of 1997 has matured. Give credit to his enthusiasm and unending support for us. Attending games, concerts, plays, and many dances, he has grown to know each member of this class by name. The Class of 1997 has always appreciated every effort that Mr. Garipay has made to be more than an administrator to them. Individuals, like Mr. Garipay, who "go the extra mile" to be a part of a class, are the people who have the most impact on the lives of the students and who will be remembered as such.

Mr. Garipay, we thank you for helping us to get this far. We know, and we want you to know, that the last seven years would not have been as successful without you. We will miss the character and energy that you have brought to this class. Therefore, Mr. Garipay, we, the Class of 1997, have dedicated our yearbook to you for all that you have dedicated to us. Furthermore, we hope you will smile on each class to come as you have smiled on us.

"Movin' on Up", that is what we are, and have been doing. But the Class of 1997 has learned over these past four years that we cannot do it alone. We might need some help. For companionship, for understanding, for excitement, and even a little craziness, we turned to each other. In our classmates though, we could not find the guidance and wisdom to help us along every step of our ascent. The guide we needed to forge and blaze the trails of high school has been Mr. Disanto.

As an advisor to the student government, we bucked his support as freshmen. We could do the job ourselves. There was a class pride and stubbornness that might have turned off other advisors. Mr. DiSanto stood by though, allowing us the time and space we needed to figure out that what we did need was the man who was patiently waiting to help. As a moderator, a resource, a history book, a phone call-maker, a calendar, and many times, a reality check, we needed him. When we needed him, he was there. Although the class was the government, we would concede that he was a force that supported its independence and oversaw its success.

Another role for our class that Mr. DiSanto has served is that of a science teacher. Students admired his comfortable classroom atmosphere where both curriculum and fun were important. Especially with our class, he listened to whining, complaining, and special cases and he never lost his cool, for which he further earned our respect.

Last and certainly not least, he is the person who makes this book possible every year, and especially this year. Every year brings many hassles, complaints, criticisms, and a little credit. Yet there are the countless hours he spends, coming in early, staying late, and finishing layouts for overwhelmed editors. Most importantly he looks out for everyone, not only yearbook staff. He is concerned about every member of the class being in this book. He has never been satisfied with just the completion of this very important project. Quality has been his aim, no matter how long, or how much work, it takes. Mr. DiSanto has always told the yearbook staff that he knows they do not get the credit they deserve for working so hard. But he, himself, is the one who is never recognized. And that is what this one page in our yearbook is all about. One page to recognize the man who deserves the most recognition. Along with this recognition he deserves a sincere, heartfelt thank-you from every member of this class, so here it is.

Thank you, Mr. DiSanto, for all you have done for us over the past four years. At times we may not have seemed appreciative and we know few people can be sustained without appreciation. Your decideation and caring will not be forgotten. As we "move on up" in the years to come, our paths will be marked by your incredible influence. Therefore, as both a big surprise from us and a final tribute to you, we dedicate this yearbook with affection and respect.

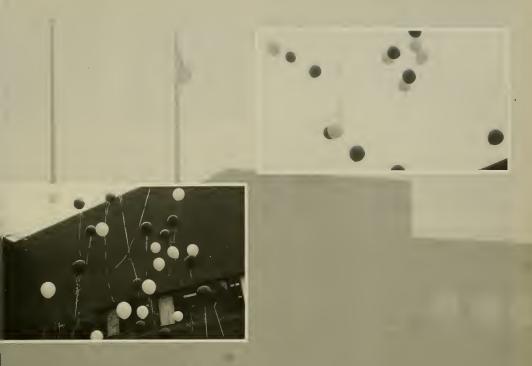

MOVIN' ON UP LOG'97

"The heights by men reached and kept Were not attained by sudden flight, But they, while their companions slept, Were toiling upward in the night."

- Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

We have always been on the move and we, the Class of 1997, have finally arrived - graduation at last. We kept movin' and our journey upward has given us hundreds of friends, thousands of experiences and millions of great memories. Although the terrain which we had to endure was sometimes bumpy, rough and untamable we managed to stay on the upward track and attain our goals. We have reached the summit of the educational experience in Melrose Public Schools and this book, we hope, will be the LOG of our travels from the Melrose Middle School through to our final days as seniors. We have prepared ourselves and we have found our rightful position - the top. We have been "Movin' on Up" together for the last seven years now it is time to look back at where we have been. We have worked hard, been determined and dedicated ourselves to our goals. We have proven ourselves both academically and athletically. Our classmates through working in clubs and organizations have won much favorable recognition for Melrose High School through their efforts and the Class of 1997 has produced some of the finest students in Melrose High School history. We our proud of our accomplishments and will continue to move into the future.

Movin' on Up, we have done it together, now we must move into the future as individuals. Good Luck to The Class of 1997

STUDENT LIFE

STOPS ALONG THE WAY

As we look down from the first precipice of our journey, we see the many achievements of our high school career. From the first day we entered the halls of Melrose High School as timid scrawny Freshmen antil our beautiful red and white graduation, we have all strived to achieve our personal bests but never have thought twice about taking a little time out for pleasure. The Class of 1997 social events were second o none. The Freshmen Semi-Formal kicked off four years of celebration. The volleyball games at the Sophomore Field Day will never be forgotten. The Junior Prom aaaahhhh yes that elegant evening we shared at the Crowne Plaza, was the point in our high school career which we realized we were all grown up. Our Senior year was time to renember. We united as a class and rocked the house it the Halloween Dance, Winter Ball and Senior From. Our school spirit at the Pep Rally and sporting vents was the finest in the Middlesex League. As a class, we have climbed the first leg of our mountain ogether and the Student Life section shows the Stops Along The Way.

Winter Ball

The Class of 1997's high-heels and dress shoes pranced up the great blue staircase of the Swallow's Nest for the final time January 9, 1997 at the Winter Ball. And a Winter Ball it was, with the snow outside squalling and howling against the windows. The January weather outside most certainly did not keep the dance floor from getting hot and steamy. Not long after they came dressed to the hilt, the shoes, ties and dress shirts came off and the sweat started rolling. They danced danced and danced. They moshed, trained and cuddled

BE YOURSELF AND NO ONE ELSE

From the day you are born until the day you die People will judge you and I do not understand why They will judge you on your clothes or even your hair It's done because they are insecure with themselves Or they just don't care.

I feel some people just want to be well known They would rather be considered popular than be alone But it is the individual people that stand out to me Those people will amount to something someday For everyone to see.

It is the people who are real that touch the most hearts But those same people are picked on and torn apart People want to believe that someone kind and sincere is a fake So I guess that is the kind of treatment That a nice person has to take.

I know for a fact that if you are caring
And make at least one real friend
That friend is the person that will be there
Until the very end
Even if the world is your enemy, a real friend will Stand by you
And that is something that can be hard to do.

"Be yourself and no one else" is the only advise I will leave
And if you succeed in doing that, all your goals in life you may achieve
And do not care what anyone else may say
Don't let others get you down
And make tomorrow a better day!

We began our high school journey, slowly but ely, when we were little freshmen. Starting at the y bottom, we proceeded to move our way on up to top through schoolwork, sports, and other activist. Traveling for four years, we were faced with my challenges, and confidently rose to the occasion meet and conquer them. Nothing could get in the y of our view of the peak. Trying to clear the path tree, we had a blast. We made friends and memos, and accomplished the goals we had set for ourves at the start. What a long, strange trip it has en, but now, as seniors, we are finally at the sumt!

Phil Crafts, Ken Deranian, Tom Walsh and Jeff Rzepka pause to pose in their first picture as seniors in the cafe.

aren Dorhety smiles because she has no a of what is going on.

Allison Meharg and Sarah Parker are ready to travel, they have everything they need in their identical pocket-books.

ie Dargan takes time during class to check the cute guy across the room.

Tina White, who dislikes having her picture taken, is caught off guard by our sneaky camera person.

An always chipper Jen Morrison wishes she was still in bed at home.

Tina Wentzell and Donna Thompson practice their smiles for their upcoming toothpaste commercial in between classes.

Proud to be an American, Chris Pagliuso is surprised by the blinding flash of the camera.

Tim Dennis thanks the cameraman for taking his picture by trying to hug him.

"We love Environmental Biology," Tina Anagnos and Melissa Lamson say in between giggles.

Laura Chiminello laughs as she thanks Allison Carey for finally returning the books she had let her borrow freshman year.

Jamie Riley asks, "Were you the one who took my favorite pen?" story.

Dan Seto snickers at Coner McGuire's "gallon of milk drinking"

Keri Constantino is never too busy to pose for the yearbook.

SPRING SPORTS

SPRINGIN' TO THE TOP

The class of 1997 has come a long way since their st spring of 1993 at Melrose High. The spring athees have had to bask in the limelight of others bere them, but have consistently shown that they will ep working to take their place at the top of the Melse High heap, when all is said and done. Over the rdles of track and the nets of tennis, and yes, many nes over the Green Monsters of our softball and seball fields, spring athletes have even given bother Nature her wake-up call. The spring athletes we shown Melrose High what constant perseverce is and how to keep moyin' on up during what is, the rest of the school, the wind-down season. Heir dedication and stamina has made them some Melrose High's finest, just check out their records dournament berths!

team knows that their little Road Runner will not let them down. Above: L. Bakeman has had about enough time sitting on the bench. "Are all little Freshman treated this way?" she wonders. Below: It's another home run for Jenn Campbell. Her powerful swings helps the Melrose team every time.

Above: S. Swim is always there to cheer on her team, whether it is on the pitcher's mound or here on the sideline. Left: E. Ahem is on deck and ready to bring all the runners home. But when she slides, will her lipstick smudge making this the last great picture of her softball career?

Swinging Into The Tournament

For two consecutive years, the Melrose High School's softball team has earned itself a birth in the State Tournament. In the first round they beat Danvers 3-2, in a very close game. In the quarterfinals they were eliminated by Dracut, an excellent squad. However just qualifying for the tournament is an honor and a testament to the team's ability. During the regular season the team triumphed in 12 out of 18 games.

Coach Murphy and Assistant Coach Coughlin sparked the team to many fine performances. Captains Liz Beshong, Nicole Keller, and Kristy Butts not only provided leadership, but also played with excellent skill. Nicole became a Middlesex League all star along with sophomore Sandra Swim and Junior 1997 Captain Sarah Stevenson. Sarah was also named an All-League catcher which qualifies her as one of the best catcher's in the league.

Pitchers Sandra Swim and Lindsay Bakeman performed well on the mound despite an injury to key pitcher, Mari Agnes. Their infield, consisting of Cherilyn Sestito, Gia Rosenberg, Sarah Fried, Val Moschella, Nicole Keller, and Jenn Campbell played well behind them. The outfielders 1997 Co-Captain Emily Ahern, Kristy Butts, Liz Beshong, and Kristen Murphy controlled their positions with skill and precision.

"Refuse To Lose"

Melrose High's "Most Athletic" male and team captain, Jeff Rzepka, attempts to hit the game winning homerun.

Dave Dinarello and Jeff Rzepka grip the fence with excitement as they watch their fellow teammates at the plate.

Baseball

"Checking out" his competition, John Dion wonders if he should try to steal second base.

ack: Coach Wilbur, P. Veneziano, J. Rzepka, D. Dinarello, S. Michaud, C. Beckford, P. McCracken, J. on, S. Turner, J. Myatt, Front; A. Serfes (96), L. McNeilly (96), J. Troy (96), Z. Brown (96), M. Babbit 6), J. Bremberg (96), J. McNaught (96), G. Gillis (96).

The 1996 MHS Baseball Team showed a tremendous "Refuse to Lose" attitude during a season of injury and many setcks. After a long preseason which included a surprise April snowstorm and poor field conditions, the Melrose team started e season at 0-5 and it seemed as if the team was going no where.

Finally, after winning some important games and gaining confidence Melrose had a tough contest against top-ranked Reading. In what looked to be an easy win for Reading, Melrose came alive and showed what they were made of. Being down 2-0 in the bottom of the sixth, Melrose scored three runs to take the lead. The Red Raiders played great defense for the final three outs and came away with the upset of the year in high school baseball. Melrose then turned it on and was able to qualify for the State Tournament for the second year in a row. Unfortunately they lost 6-0 to a tough Swampscott team. The 1996 team will be remembered as a group of kids who "Refuse to Lose."

Above: The Red Raiders get the equipment ready and begin to focus on the big game ahead of them. Left: Coach, are we playing baseball or Ring Around the Rosey?

Serving It Up

"Take that!" says Theresa Darragh as she smashes a perfect forehand

Drawing on her great dancing abilities, Katie Dargan swings for a low

Dreaming of Wimbeldon, Lauren Doherty smashes the ball at her Stoneham opponent.

Tennis captains Tonna Vaccaro and Lauren Doherty smile while thinking about how Mrs. Briggs forgot about the picture.

Coach Briggs, P. Analetto, S. Fisher, A. Johnson, M. Corbett, L. Karampalas, M. McKinley, A. Porle Catalogna. Front: J. Montgomery, M. Mastrangelo, H. Mitchell, L. Doherty, T. Vaccaro, T. Darragh, Urgan.

Once again the Girls Tennis Team had a great season. Although their record was not the strongest, that does of reflect upon their play. Throughout the season Melrose put up a fight and there were many great matches. The team looks ahead to a successful season next year. A great deal of this success will come from returning the entire varsity team and the loss of only one senior. The inexperience and young team was a factor last year, but now all their hard work and perseverance will pay off.

No one will ever forget the team trip to Yankee Yogurt or the ride home from Stoneham—"I swear officer I don't know what I was doing wrong!"

Daryl DuLong takes a break from running Melrose High School in order to enjoy an afternoon on the Crystal Street Courts.

Captain Dan Casey smirks because he knows that his competition is no match for his ability Dan continues to be a valuable asset to the team.

Right: Senior Keith Rowe gives his opponent a fierce look. Keith worked hard all season and looks to lead the team in '97.

Using all of his skill and coordination captain Matt Roselli keeps his eye on the ball and smashes an incontestable two handed back hand at his opponent.

The Melrose High School Boys cennis Team may not have fullled all of their aspirations in the poring of 1996, but they certainly ad a good time. From ultimate risbee at the end of the year cook-ut to mixed doubles competition at Tremont Street, they always found a way to amuse themselves.

At first singles was Junior Co-Captain Dan Casey. Freshman Endel Liias filled the second singles slot and unior Jay Calabro took care of third singles. Junior Co-Captain Matt Roselli and sophomore Joe Finn played first doubles while future superstars Matt Bixby and Dan Talbot, played in the second doubles slot. Losing seniors from the starting line-up, the spring of 1997 promises great things for this group.

The Girls Spring Track Team had a memorable season in 1996. With a record of 3-6, it did not reflect their hard work and dedication. They were a strong team with many great athletes. The team will always remember Coach Porter with his famous jokes and one liners: "Gee my knee!" and "Head for the barn!"

The team could always be heard singing "Son of a Preacher Man" and seen having a good time regardless of what they were doing. They would like to say thanks to Coach Sarah for being one of the girls.

The Girls Spring Track Team has always been hardworking and determined and the future looks bright. There are many strong runners and athletes coming back and the team will be a tougher competitor in the Middlesex League.

Leah Limone explodes over the high jump while holding the bar in place, hoping no one notices.

Morris, R. Dion, C. ins, N. Leone, J. Dunn, J. Long, D. Burke, R. Sherman.

The Boys Spring Track Team had a lot of strong, young runners and it was reflected in their 5-4 record. They provided tough competition in a strong Middlesex League. Late in the season, Jeremiah Thorpe, Kurt Lusas, Steve Mulvihill, and many others stepped up their performances and really contributed to the team.

During the season members of the team had a lot of fun and really grew together. The 1997 season looks to be a strong one with many of the top performers returning.

Nathan Lusas leads the way scoring another first place for Melrose as Greg Hadden and Steve Mulvihill come in right behind him.

ORGANIZATIONS

GETTING THERE TOGETHER

In our hike to the top, we MHS students have an any of clubs and organizations in which we can parate and grow together. No matter which club the htened freshman or so cool senior joins, he or she be sure that taking part in a club at MHS will vide a sense of belonging and a chance to build adships and to gain respect from others sharing same interests.

Band!

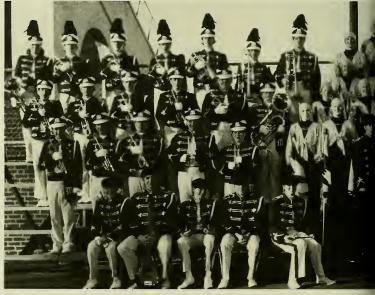

Last fall, the Melrose High

School Marching Band had its most successful season ever. They accomplished a feat of no other MHS Marching Band. They won a gold medal in competition. Led by drum majors John Beck and Jesse Linhares and color guard captains Kelly Shields and Stephanie Barrows, the band brought home the highest score and the most awards. The fierce trumpet playing of Brian Coughlin, the reckless drumming of Michael Graney, the dynamic leadership of John Beck, rounded out by the skill of Aaron Raymond and Torbert Zwirner made this year's seniors a crop not to be forgotten. Next year's show should be equally magnificent.

FALL SPORTS

LEGENDS OF THE FALL

A new school year doesn't mean just new teachers d new classes to some students at Melrose High nool. A new school year also means a new season, new season of Fall Sports that is.

There is a dedicated group of athletes at Melrose th. When the school day ends, while many others h home to enjoy the last days of warm weather, se athletes stay and push themselves to become ter. They give that extra something that makes m the outstanding student-athletes of Melrose h School.

'his extra hard work and determination paid off all of the Melrose fall teams this year. Win or lose, h team gained a little something from their season t they will always remember.

Senior Jenn Campbell was a major contributor to the team. Her powerful hits and strong serves were always a threat to the opposing team.

At the beginning of the season the hopes and expectations of the Melrose Volleyball Team were high. It the graduation of only one senior, Melrose was one of the most experienced teams in the league. Although their record ended up a disappointing 5-13, Melrose played some great matches against some of the best teams in Eastern Mass. One of the teams finest matches was against league powerhouse Lexington High School. Melrose played point for point, eventually losing 15-13 while Lexington remained undefeated.

Through all the disappointing losses the team never gave up. They always had fun making fun of their coach (D1, Enforcer) and having a good time. No one will ever forget the last bus ride home-"Oh happy day!" - or the many games of "I never" (JH's version!)

"Oh no! We have Marvin again!", thinks Theresa Darragh as the team is about to start their game.

The Melrose High School Girls' Swim and (a.k.a. "The Froggies") ended the fall season with a 3-10 record. However, this is not at all an indication of their talent. Tri-captains Lauren Mabardy, Beth Ashley, and Allison Carey led this close-knit group of friends, who pulled together for their last competition and placed sixth in the Middlesex League Meet held at Bentley College.

Seniors Kristy Schlesinger, Beth Ashley, Andrea McNamara, and Lauren Mabardy were solid swimmers, each of them having their best season as well as their best times ever. The remaining three Seniors, Julie Abare, Allison Carey, and Daphne Perkins also had a great season which ended at the sectional meet; each of them did exceedingly well, with Julie being nominated a League All Star also.

Besides their love of the water, the swim team had a passion for food. Pasta Parties were held at different member's houses the night before almost every meet, and of course the traditional trip to Hometown Buffet (all you can eat for only $7.00!!) was the perfect ending to an awesome season! Hey underclassmen-don't forget the Froggies' important motto: "NO FRIENDS IN THE FOODLINE!" (These are words to live by!)

The 1996 season was another great year for the Red Raider golf team. The Red Raiders finished second in a tough Middlesex League. With a record of 7-2 the team was able to earn a spot in the State Golf Tournament.

(: "What a great shot that is" thinks Kevin Murphy as he calmly blasts a lout of the sand trap. Kevin will need to come up big for the Red is next year to make up for the loss of the four seniors.

The team faced a devastating loss in a pre-season accident. Chris Young who would have held the number one or two position had to sit out the entire season with a broken arm. The squad kept its composure and was lead by the outstanding play of sophomore Endel Lias. Endel had an exceptional year. Not only did he lead the team but placed first at the one, two, three Middlesset League shoot-out and second at the state championships.

Senior captain Bob Sweezy also turned in an impressive season. He finished fourth at the Middlesex League shoot-out and was named a Middlesex league all-star. Melrose is going to loose many important seniors, such as Luke Antolini, Jason Coffee, Bill Keefe, and Dan Seto. The squad will be young after loosing four of the top eight players, but with the return of Chris Young and play from Mike Antolini, Kevin Murphy, Dave Wasdyke, and Tim Farrell the team should once again be a powerhouse in the Middlesex League.

The 1996 Melrose Field Hockey had one of its greatest seasons this year. Not only did they make the record books for some of the great games they yed and accomplishments they had, but they also made some good friends.

The team had an exciting season. They made it to State Tournament and defeated Acton-Boxboro for the first time in history. Unfortunately though, lrose was knocked out of the tournament by a tough loss to Danvers in double overtime. Even though they did not win the States, Melrose ended up in Final Four.

This success was not just luck. Melrose had a fantastic team and showed it at the All-Star Game where four players (Abby Porter, Sarah Stevenson, Emily Ahern, and Heather Mitchell) represented Melrose. In addition to this, Emily Ahern was chosen as one of the top-60 players in the state. This was a great honor and she represented Melrose well.

Besides being great on the field, Melrose was just as good off. The team raised money to support the Jimmy Fund and participated in the walk. Also, the team grew together this year, due in large part to Coach Johnston's "Circle Talks" and demand for respect on her team. They concluded the year with a team get-together at Sarah's house which was a great end to an even better esason.

One reason the Melrose Field Hockey Team was so good was its great group of seniors. Each and every one of them will be missed.

The 1996 Metrose High football team showed character and class that no other team had in the Middlesex League. Under the guidance of Coach Tim Morris and his staff, the team learned how to work hard and never ever quit! The '96 campaign started with a win over non-league rival Malden after an unusually long pre-season. However, the next two games against Burlington and Woburn were not as successful and it seemed like hope for Melrose was dimming as they would face the defending Super Bowl Champs from Reading. On that beautiful Saturday afternoon Melrose would not be considered a pushover as they came out with a 0-0 tie against the Rockets.

After their first Middlesex League win against Stoneham, Melrose lost a tough contest with the Sachems from Winchester. The team quickly rebounded with two straight wins against Watertown and Lexington. This set the stage for Melrose's last home game of the season against Belmont. On a unseasonably cold November night the Belmont Marauders barely survived a valiant Melrose comeback by hanging on to beat the Red Raiders, 20-12.

The rivalry game between Wakefield and Melrose was played on Turkey

Day. This is the game in which the Seniors who have worked so hard for four years play their last game. This game is filled with the utmost emotion and desire to win. Unfortunately, after a hard fought game, Wakefield came out on top with a 3-0 victory.

The 1996 girls Cross-Country team had a very productive year. Although their record did not show what strong runners were on the team, the girls had a lot of individual talent. The team was lead by Coach Kevin Allison, and co-captains Pam Costello and Tracy Crowley, both 4-year veterans.

The highlight of the sason was the meet against Winchester. Going into the meet Melrose and Winchester looked pretty even, but in the end Melrose pulled out the win. The win was mostly due to strong performances by Tracy Crowley, Pam Costello, Jody Litrenta, and Katie Hennessy.

When the team was not running, they had time for a little fun and time to create a lot of memories. Some of the most memorable were, parties at the "falls", rides home in the Taurus, "Fat Mags", and the really tough practices.

Margaret "Fat Mags" McKinley is dazed and confused after running a strenuous race.

WINTER SPORTS

WINTER WONDERS

To many, the winter means cold and snow outside, while they sit warm and cozy in their couse. This is not so for the winter athletes of Melrose High School.

Many stay after the final bell has rung and pend hours practicing and improving their kills. Some brave the elements while practicing outdoors and still others sweat it out in the conines of Melrose High.

Not only do these athletes give up their after chool free time, but they spend much of their yell deserved winter break pushing themselves o overcome their competition.

As always, the winter sports of Melrose High school represented their school proudly with heir fine accomplishments and many hours of edication.

Striving To Go All The Way

Mission Accomplished

Losing only one senior to graduation last year, this year's team returned a full squad. With all five starters returning the outlook was bright. Second-year Head Coach Dave Brady's team's primary goal was to qualify for the state tournaments for the first time since '92.

The Lady Raiders were successful at that with a convincing record of 12-8 in an extremely strong Middlesex League.

The team turned up their level of play towards the end of the season with an outstanding win against Belmont who was ranked #20 in the state. This win was a complete team effort and it helped pull everyone together for tournament play. In the first round of the tourney, Melrose was seeded to play Chelsea at Chelsea. They were facing a new team in a new gym, but this did not discourage them. The Lady Raiders came out victorious.

In the second round, Melrose played Burlington at home - unfortunately due to the absence of two starters and a little bad luck, Melrose suffered defeat at the hands of a team they had previously beaten at home. Whether or not the outcome would have been different no one will ever know, but the season was still a great one at that.

This year's seniors Lauren Doherty, Jill Robichaud, and Cara Hubbard were main factors in the success of this team due to their hardwork and dedication. They will be missed by everyone and their leadership will be hard to follow.

Juniors Andrew Schweihs, Dan Kourtz, and Patrick Shamburger made important contributions to the team. The sophomores had a tough season with Eric Frederick injured most of the season. Andrew Rawson and Ryan Dion helped the team too. Ryan Dion was a league all-star in the breast-stroke. Lone freshmen Chris Bechovchin appeared lost-at times, but made it through the season.

Girl's Track Shines In A League Of Titans

This year's winter track season was a great success despite its record. Thanks to Coach John Sherlockl and assistant Andrea Wallace, the girls had a strong season and dedicated team, which shows a lot of potential for the upcoming seasons.

The seniors of the 96-97 Winter Track Season were captains Carolyn Makredes and Melissa Cunningham, Laurie Meharg, Gia Rosenberg, Abby Porter, and Selena Shane. All Stars include Carolyn Makredes and Melissa Cunningham who both qualified for all-states and Cunningham went on to qualify for New England's.

The girls were fortunate to have a calm winter with little snow. They did have their share of grueling days of practice in the freezing weather it was a wonderful group of girls who got along so well. They showed determination and support for each other throughout the season. No meet was ever complete without Carolyn's radio playing the "team song," "Eye of the Tiger."

With wins over Belmont and Watertown, the team showed tremendous improvement. With motivation from their captains Conor McGuire and Jason Benson, they sprinted up in the standings. Strong contributors to the team were Alex Genovese in the 2 mile, Jamie Sullivan in the 1000, 600, and the mile, seniors Nathan Lusas and Jason Benson in the dash, and captain Conor McGuire in the 600. Tumbling To The Top

While Pulling Together

Right: Laura Crosby shows her flexibility and balance as she perfects her stunt on the balance beam.

The Melrose Gymnastics team was very young this year, but that did not stop them from being tough competition in the Middlesex League.

The Red Raiders started out strong by winning their first three meets. Everyone competed well and the team was very happy with their performances.

Seniors Hilary Mortalli and Alissa Rahilly were strong leaders this year and the team wishes them well.

The future looks bright for Melrose Gymnastics and everyone is excited for what is to come.

Pinning It Up

Eyes Of A Tiger

Senior tri-captain Sean Savage looks poised and ready to wrestle in an important match against Woburn

The Melrose High School spandex legands, a.k.a. the Wrestling Team had a solid performance throughout the entire season. Under the leadership of senior captains Mike Sweezey, Sean Savage and Steve Mulvihill, the team was bound to be a success. Senior Eric Navarro guided all of the underclassmen with his superb technique. Sean Kingsley, Joe Mattera and James Mattera also saw varsity time and contributed greatly to the team. All in all, the wrestling team had an excellent performance and proved to be strong competition for the remainder of the Middlesex League.

Senior Eric Navaro has the look of satisfa a after he beats his opponent
Senior tri-captain Mike Sweezy seems to late control of his match. Mike was a major tributor to this years team.

Giving It Their Best Shot

Right: Luke Antolini and Rusty Garrity offer each other assistance as they barrel down the rink.

Some expectations of the Melrose Hockey team were not too high, but those of the players and coaches were. The team always gave 100 percent and played good, tough hockey. But a lack of scoring just could not secure the wins. Under the leadership of Coach Rolli and co-captains Bert Stoker and Jeff Delrossi the team always showed spirit and determination.

Hampered by goalie injuries, Melrose continued its intense play and proved that they could compete with the best. They were honored with All Stars and according to the Melrose fans, the team was truly successful in its own right.

Let's Hear It For The Boys

Winter Cheering Gets The Crowd On Their Feet

The spirited squad of cheerleaders were an inspiration to the boys basketball and hockey teams. Under guidance of their coach, Miss Shea, and Basketball captains Katie Cannon and Kristine Hudd, and Hockey captains Katie Trudeau and Julie Fabiano the team practiced hard to perfect their encouraging cheers. They provide enthusiasm for the fans and their teams with their spirited cheers. They were a significant part of the successful year the basketball team had. No matter what happens on the court or on the ice they were always there to support their teams. They boosted the spirits of the players and the crowd when times were rough and arroused them when things looked up.

The hockey and basketball cheerleaders should not forget all the good times: "Do you love me," the exhibition cram, the BIG D at Billy's, and all of the numerous toilet rolls consumed while toilet papering the houses and the school.

The cheerleading squad wants to thank Miss Shea for your spirit and support. Good luck to all of the underclassmen.

Retirees...

Mr. Humphreys has been the data processing director at MHS for the past twelve years. Even though his position entails working with computers, he is very much a people person. He has always maintained a close relationship with his students. Often he can be spotted around school as the man with the big, bright, glowing smile that never seems to fade. He is a well known person to all.

Mr. Humphreys, throughout his many years at MHS, has always been inundated with requests from faculty, students and especially LOG. Whether it's class lists or mailing labels, Mr. Humphreys never fails. We also have him to thank for our report cards, although at times we wish the printer had broken down. Mr. Humphreys is an important part of Melrose High School.

A graduate of Merrimack College, Mr. Humphreys served as a teacher at MHS in the Business department as well as in Math and History. In 1968, he was chosen to be the very first soccer coach at MHS. Later he coached hockey at Wakefield High. Mr. Humphreys is married and has three children and one grandchild.

Although it is sad to see such a wonderful person leave our school, he will never be forgotten. In our eyes he will always be remembered as the master of all trades at all times. Having illustrating his concern for others, he was awarded the Christa McAullife Award for making a difference in a students life. He was recommended for this award by a student who graduated in 1973. We all wish the best of luck to Mr. Humphreys in all his future endeavors.

June Christiaen came to the Melrose Public Schools in 1977 and has been in the High School since 1978. She has been a part of the Parent Pupil Service Department, working with students in reading and other language skills.

Born in Australia, of French speaking parents, Dr. Christiaen came to the United States in 1947 to attend high school. She became an American citizen after completing college and graduate school in this country. She began work at the United Nations in New York but soon left to take up a position as a teacher of French. She moved from French to the teaching of English and then became interested in Dyslexia and other reading problems. For a number of years she combined teaching in Melrose with serving as a part time Professor of Special Education at Tufts University.

In her retirement Dr. Christiaen will spend time with her two granddaughters, cultivate berries and perennials on her farm, and write and travel to visit family in Australia and France.

The students of Melrose High School will miss Dr. Christiaen's guidance and caring. For the staff, her insight and understanding has been an incredible asset. We, the students and staff, wish Dr. Christiaen all the best in the future and would like her to know that she will always be remembered as a special part of our school.
